MAJOR INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH ACTIVITY

- 1995 - 1997 Human Capital and Mobility (HCM) program - Project “Cost containment policy in the drug sector in Europe”, two-years project financed by the EU within the HCM program. Within the ENDEP research network prof. Atella is coordinator of the Italian unit and co-founder of the “ENDEP research Network”, a highly interdisciplinary network to study and evaluate drug policy programs in Europe. The main goal of this project is to evaluate cost drug containment policy across Europe.
- 1997 – 1998 CNR – Health strategic project – “Le determinanti delle scelte tra pubblico e privato nel settore sanitario italiano”. This research activity, in cooperation with Prof. Rosati and with Dr Spandonaro aims to obtain a valuation set on the selection criteria between public and private health, creating a database, for the first time in Italy, that contain an homogenic information on i) the health state of the Italian population, ii) the offer structure of the sanitary services, iii) the patients choices on sanitary services offer, iv) epidemiologic situation, v) on individual and familiar incomes with a disaggregation at regional level.
- 1997 - 1999 BIOMED Programma - Project “Patient charge and decision making behaviours of consumers and physicians”, three year project financed by the EU within the BIOMED program. Within the ENDEP research network prof. Atella is coordinator of the Italian unit. The main goal of the project is to evaluate how different co-payment systems can affect prescription decision by physicians and drug consumption by patients.
- 1997 - 2001 Program SOE of CEE - Project “EUROMOD: a tax benefit microsimulation model”, three years project financed by the EU under the SOE program. Prof. Atella is the scientific coordinator of the Italian unit. (more information are available at the following web page address:<http://www.econ.cam.ac.uk/dae/mu/emod.htm>).
- 1998 - TECH-Europe - TEchnological Change in Health care global research network - Prof. Atella is co-founder of the network (lead by Prof. Mark McClellan, Stanford University) and coordinator of the Italian group. The main goal of the project is to evaluate in an international perspective the effect of the introduction of new technologies in the health sector, with special emphasis on the cardiovascular diseases. (more information are available at the following web page address: <http://healthpolicy.stanford.edu/tech/>).
- 1998 NBER - Stanford University – January-March– Invited by Prof. Mark McClellan for a research period at the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER).
- 1999 -2000 European Science Foundation (ESF) – Exploratory Research Grant. Prof. Atella is the scientific co-ordinator of the project and co-ordinator of the TECH-Europe Research Network. The main goal of the project is to evaluate the effects of the regulation on the introduction of new technologies in the health sector and how these influence health expenditure and health outcome. (more information are available at the following web page address: <http://healthpolicy.stanford.edu/tech/>)
- 2001 - Global health care productivity (GHP) research network - Prof. Atella is co-founder of the network (lead by the Stanford University) and co-ordinator of the Italian group. The main goals of the research activity is to measure health productivity within an international perspective. Within the network Prof. Atella is also scientific coordinator of the sub-project on drug expenditure (more information are available at the following web page address: <http://healthpolicy.stanford.edu/GHP/>) .
- 2001 - 2003 Program ECUIITY III, V program framework – Prof. Atella is the coordinator of the Italian unit. Three year project sponsored by the European Union within the Socio Economic Research program. The project is the continuation of the previous EU sponsored project ECUIITY II. The main objective of this project is to investigate the determinants of the access to health care services and to evaluate if there are main “health related income inequalities” and how they differ across European countries (more information are available at the following web page address: <http://www.eur.nl/bmg/ecuity/>).

2001 - 2003 Program SOE of CEE – Project “MICRESA: Micro-level analysis of the European Social Agenda: combating poverty and social exclusion through changes in social and fiscal policy”, three years project financed by the European Union under the SOE program.
